ADVISES FARMERS TO PROTECT THEIR SPRINGS

Many Kentucky farmers who depend on springs as a water supply for their stock are protecting these springs and making them more sanitary by placing a concrete curb around them, according to J. B. Kelley, head of the farm engineering section of the College of Agriculture. After the spring is surrounded with the curb the water is allowed to flow through a pipe by means of gravity to a concrete tank placed several feet below the spring at a point where the stock can conveniently reach it. By this means clean running water is provided for the animals instead of the muddy water in which they wade. Detailed information concerning the making of tanks and the installation of such water systems may be obtained free by writing the Experiment Station, Lexington.

Just History

In '76
The Colonial Dame
Spun her cloth
By Candle flame.

In 1860
In Crinoline bright,
She greeted her guests
By Coal Oil light.

And later on,
How time does pass
Her home was lit
By flickering Gas.

But the girl of to-day
Who wants her home bright,
Just presses a button
And has Electric Light.

HAYS TO RAISE PRICE OF SPECIAL DELIVERY

The cost of sending a special delivery letter is to be raised from ten cents to twenty-five cents. Postmaster General Hayes in making the change, is doing so on the supposition that the general public will prefer to pay the higher charge for better service than that which can be rendered under the present scale, with one messenger getting a batch of letters, with the result that often a special delivery letter takes longer than an ordinary one. With the new fee in operation it will be possible to send a messenger with each letter. The rural communities also are to have better service, the intention being to notify addressees, wherever possible, by telephone that a special delivery letter is at the postoffice.

SOMETHING WRONG WITH TOBACCO INDUSTRY

The tobacco manufacturers last year made the biggest profits in the history of the industry and the tobacco growers suffered the biggest losses. As it requires more work, skill and knowledge to grow tobacco than it does to manufacture it there seems to be something entirely wrong in the tobacco industry. In fact every farmer knows where the trouble is. The manufacturers know more about the buying end of the business than the growers do about the selling end. The growers must set the price. The only salvation of the growers is in the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association, but the way some of the growers are talking one would judge that they are looking for salvation and are satisfied with present conditions.

RICHMOND WRITER PRAISES PARIS CITY OFFICIALS

A writer in the Richmond Register, using the none de plume "Tax Payer," contributes a lengthy communication to a recent issue of that paper, in which he takes occasion to praise Paris city officials, and to toss a verbal bouquet to Paris. His communication, in part follows:

"As a citizen and taxpayer in the city of Richmond I thought that a few lines at the present time might be of interest to the voters and a help for a bigger and better Richmond."

"The coming city and county primary is now less than a month off and I notice through your paper that a few days ago there was a committee of citizens met and selected six gentlemen to make the race for councilmen of the city of Richmond."

"I have been a citizen and property owner of Richmond for a number of years and at this time of the year, just before a primary election, with a great deal of interest, the manner in which the people look upon elections, you can hear them in groups, on the street or in the business houses discussing politics and it is very evident that they are only interested in the races of the county and it is seldom the case you ever hear the office of city councilman mentioned, while the welfare and progress of the town, which all citizens should be interested in, solely depends on this body."

"The striking part of it is that we are so different in this respect from our neighboring towns, for instance, take Paris, Ky."

"The present council of Paris, Ky., consists of the following gentlemen: 'N. Ford Brent, seed merchant and commission man."

"C. W. Spears, miller and commission man."

"Edw. Burke, wealthy farmer."

"J. J. Williams, bookkeeper and cashier Paris Milling Co."

"Hugh Brent, real estate agent."

"Geo. L. Doyle, assistant cashier Peoples' Deposit Bank and Trust Company."

The candidates that are running for the office of councilman in the for the office of councilman in the gentlemen:

"C. W. Spears, for re-election."

"J. J. Williams, for re-election."

"Geo. L. Doyle, for re-election."

"Wm. Kenney, doctor."

"Geo. Speakes, real estate agent."

"V. W. Mitchell, banker."

"T. C. Ruggles, auto dealer."

"Claude Redmon, auto dealer."

"Jas. Connell, farmer."

"Frank Kiser, banker."

"Bernard Santen, banker."

"Paris, Ky., has to my knowledge, done more public improvements in the past five years than any other town its size in Central Kentucky."

HE DID NOT THINK IT WAS POSSIBLE

Big Change in Louisville Man—Eats Anything, Sleeps Sound and Feels Fine Now

"I just feel fine these days and Tanlac gets the credit from me," said Michel McCrone, 541 South Clay street, Louisville, Ky.

"I was a miserable man for five years as a result of stomach trouble and catarrh of the head. No matter how careful I was about what I ate I was sure to suffer afterwards from indigestion. I had awful pains in my left side, too, and this, with the trouble that catarrh gave me, kept me from getting any sound rest. I wasted away until I was little more than a skeleton. I actually lost thirty pounds in weight and grew so weak I had to stay home from work for days at a time."

"Tanicl cleared up my catarrh almost in a jiffy and next it put my stomach in first-class condition. It's a fact I hadn't been taking it long before all my troubles disappeared and I was feeling like a brand new man. I eat anything now, sleep sound as a log, never miss a day at work and feel fine all the time. I am putting on weight rapidly and have already gotten back twenty-three of the thirty pounds I lost while I was sick. I didn't think it was possible for a medicine to make such a big change in such a short time. Tanlac certainly does the work." (adv)
